

DIFFICULT PASSAGES IN THE GOSPELS

Oct 22, 2020

Difficult Passages In The Gospels

The hard passages we are looking at today speak to grieving the Holy Spirit. In Ephesians we are told not to grieve the Holy Spirit, In 1 Peter 1 we are called to be holy in all we do, and in 1 Peter 4 we are warned that "the end of all things is near". How do these Scriptures relate to one another and how can a believer be confident in their eternal security when faced with these seemingly ...

When these are read together, one can observe many fascinating parallels and similarities that make it difficult to dispute the information or messages about the life of Jesus Christ which the Gospels disseminate. There are specific passages in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John which reveal the fundamental aspects of what it means to be a disciple, and furthermore, what it means to ...

Explaining some Difficult New Testament Passages. Question #1: Hello Dr. Luginbill, A brother in Christ claimed that he knew the symbolic meaning of the 153 fish that was caught in the Gospels (John 21:11). I've heard just as many interpretations as there were fish. Does the bible say anything that would hint on the meaning of that number? Also, I wanted to thank you for your prayers and I am ...

The gospels, like the other books of the Bible, were intended to be read in one sitting. That doesn't mean every time you read from John you need to read the whole thing. But it does mean that if you want to know one of them better, you should set aside an hour or so to read the whole gospel in one go. This gives you a feel for the general "flow" of the gospel's narrative. You'll ...

We can and should bring the Gospel message to bear even in these utterly hard passages. Covenantal Nature of Identity. First, let's consider the covenantal nature of our identity. Contrary to covenant, please note that none of the characters in Judges 19 are named. Each of the participants is essentially an anonymous entity, which is likely intended to achieve several different things. One ...
