MACKENZIE'S MOUNTAIN by Linda Howard

As she got into her sensible car, she could see the mountain called Mackenzie’s Mountain, as well as the narrow road that wound up its side like a ribbon, and she quailed inside. New snow tires notwithstanding, she wasn’t a confident driver in this strange environment. Snow was…well, snow was alien, not that she’d let it stop her from doing what she had set her mind on doing.

Mackenzie's Mountain by Linda Howard : All About Romance

? Linda Howard, quote from Mackenzie's Mountain “He stood looking down at her for a moment, then walked to the window and raised it. "Let's let the storm in," he said, and then it was with them, filling the half-dark room with sound and vibration. The rain-chilled air washed over her, cool and fresh on her heated skin. She sighed, the small sound drowned out by the din of thunder and rain ...
